STN – THE CHOICE OF PATENT EXPERTS

STN® is the choice of patent experts because it offers a unique content collection, unparalleled search power and proven reliability. STN connects information professionals worldwide with essential patent and sci-tech content, reducing the risk of missed prior art and helping protect valuable intellectual property.

Only STN offers access to trusted scientific and technical information, including the authoritative chemistry content from CAS and patent content from Thomson Reuters' Derwent World Patents Index®. Intellectual property professionals and patent examiners at the world's major patent offices and research organizations rely on STN for their information needs. As a partnership of two not-for-profit organizations providing the best professional access to scientific information, STN is uniquely positioned to focus on your needs.

STN helps us fully understand the patent landscape to develop and protect our valuable IP portfolio.

STN is critical to our organization. It helps us integrate current research and IP information into each phase of the R&D process to maximize our return on investments.

95% of the world's patent applications are reviewed by patent offices that use STN

CONTENT

STN provides an information advantage. It empowers you to answer business critical questions with insightful analysis to fuel informed decision making throughout your organization.

Access the world's scientific information on one integrated platform to maximize efficiency and synergy:

- The complete CAS collection of authoritative chemistry information
- Value-added patent content, including Thomson Reuters' Derwent World Patents Index, CAPlusSM and INPADOC
- Key biomedical databases to support research, pharmacovigilance and IP searching
- Unique content from journals, conferences and dissertations covering everything from natural products to nanotechnology and water chemistry to welding
- Global full-text patent collection, including extensive Asian coverage

Patent litigation can cost millions—it's my responsibility to choose the best resources for my organization to mitigate risk. That's why we choose STN—it gives me confidence that we won't miss anything.

POWER

Some projects require just the best results. For others, you need every relevant piece of information. The robust search features of STN give you the flexibility to search as broadly or narrowly as you need.

STN specifically addresses the challenges of searching and analyzing sci-tech, chemical and patent content by allowing you to:

- Search by chemical structure or sequence
- Locate numeric values in text
- Use subject-specific thesauri
- Analyze and visualize information
- Keep up-to-date with reliable STN alerts

Add value and create measurable impact with STN features designed to easily communicate timely, actionable information throughout your organization.

With other tools, I would have spent hours more. STN is the only platform that offers the precision and sophisticated tools I need.

I rely on STN alerts to keep my team up-to-date on the latest research, market opportunities and IP developments.
